13 Suspended in Steel Strike

Union Meeting Called; Company Cites Contract

Pittsburgh Steel Company today announced it has suspended the 13 men who walked off their jobs Thursday afternoon and touched off a strike whcih has idled 420 workers and threaten to close down the entire plant employing about 5,000 workers.

Donald C. Duvall, vice president-industrial relations, said the men have been suspended for "instigating and participating in a strike which is in violation of the three-year contract the company and union signed last year."

The suspension notices were hand-delivered to the 13-man crew over the week end. The company today declined to reveal names.

Duvall also stated that other employes in the firm's blooming mill department who joined in the walkout have been notified by mail that they are "violating the contract."

Thus far, the strike has idled 340 in the blooming mill and 80 in the open hearth department. Other departments have not been affected as yet.

Called 'Illegal'

The strike is considered "illegal" by the company and "unauthorized" by Eugene Maurice, director of District 13, United Steelworkers (AFL-CIO).

Maurice said union leaders are trying to persuade the strikers to return to their jobs.

Anthony Ortolona, president of Pittsburgh Steel Local 1229, has called a meeting of all blooming mill employes for tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in the CIO Building at 803 Donner Ave. The purpose of the meeting could not be learned today.

Ortolona, who has refused to comment on the walkout, could not be contacted as of noon today.

Duvall said the company would not discuss the issues in dispute until the strikers return to work.

The strike was touched off on the 4 to 12 p.m. shift Thursday when a 13-man crew quit work in the 28-

CAR DAMAGED LAST NIGHT — Harry Theakston, 20, of 322 Wood St., Belle Vernon, was driving this car when it went out of control and crashed on the Belle Vernon-Fayette City Rd., Route 906, last night. Theakston suffered bruises of the face and body.

Student Strike At Redstone Reported Failure

School officials at Redstone High reported that a threatened strike of students failed to materialize today.

Supervising Principal Al DeFigio said classes resumed this morning without trouble.

However, a spokesman for the students claimed that school officials hustled off "strike leaders" before they were able to organize pupils into a picket line.

The trouble stems from a school ban against the use of automobiles by students to and from school. DeFigio explained that "about a half dozen students" have been drag-racing at noontime.

Students have also been informed that they must not leave school property at noon. That means they are required to bring their lunches or eat at the school cafeteria.

Man Who Beat Baby Is Found Dead in Auto

A 43-year-old contractor, convicted last year in the vicious beating of an infant, was buried yesterday after apparently committing suicide last Friday.

Robert Grounds, Bentleyville, was found dead in his car in the garage of an unoccupied home he owned in Finleyville. Authorities listed the cause of death as carbon monoxide poisoning.

Only a few months ago, Grounds was released from Washington County Jail. He was sentenced to a jail term and fined $1,000 when he pleaded guilty to aggravated assault and battery against 14-month old Walter Aupke, the son of his housekeeper.

The child's mother, Mrs. Mary Aupke, was fined $500 and sentenced to six months in jail after pleading guilty to accessory after the fact.

Two Field Fires In Area Saturday

District firemen extinguished two field fires Saturday afternoon.

One occurred on Third St. in Monessen and the other on Ridge Ave. in Rostraver Twp.

Damage was negligible.

Urges Need for Water Code

NEW BETHLEHEM, Pa., (UP) Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman said Sunday night Pennsylvania soon may need a water code to assure adequate water supplies for communities.

Furman told a meeting of sports enthusiasts here water is one of the most valuable natural resources and said that constantly increasing demands on available water supplies, plus a gradual lowering of the water table, will require an eventual uniform control system.

He also said the state's clean streams program "must continue at a vigorous pace" for the health and welfare to citizens, as well as for fish protection.

Many Hurt in Series of Accidents on District Roads

A series of motor accidents occurred on district highways over the weekend, it was reported today.

Six persons were injured in a four-car accident early Sunday morning on Route 40 near Centerville. It involved a Monessen driver, Chris Bolias, 21, of 942 Leeds Ave. The other drivers were:

Walter Bower III, 19, Fredericktown; G. Herbert Errett, 51, Greensburg and Steve Leachman, 20, Grindstone.

State police at Belle Vernon said Bower was backing on to Route 40 when his car was struck by the Errett machine. After the first impact, the Bower and Errett cars struck parked automobiles owned by Bolias and Leachman.

William Morgan, 18, Fredericktown, a passenger in the Bower car, is reported in "good" condition in Brownsville General Hospital with bruises of the forehead. Treated at the hospital for minor injuries and released were:

Four Car Crash

Bower; Leachman; Linda Broadwater, 19, and Jane Broadwater, 20, both of Grindstone, and Dora Endemen, 18, California.

Four more cars were involved in an accident in Charleroi about 1:15 this morning.

Charleroi police said a car operated by George Manandise, 49, of 1110 Lincoln Ave., Charleroi, was traveling on McKean Ave. between Ninth and Tenth streets when it slammed into the rear of a parked car belonging to Charles Collinet, of 911 McKean Ave. The impact forced the latter car into the rear of a parked car owned by Don Dewitt, of 913 McKean Ave. and the Dewitt car was shoved into the parked car belonging to Thomas Weldon, of 919 McKean Ave.

All cars were badly damaged.

Manandise was taken to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital suffering from a cut tongue and knee injuries.

Soviet Marshal Warns U. S. of Air Attacks

MOSCOW (UP)—Marshal Constantin Vershinen, chief of Russia's air forces, warned Sunday that the United States and its Allies would be wiped out in World War III.

Vershinen, in an article in the Communist Party newspaper Pravda, said the Soviet Union was prepared to go into action at a moment's notice with nuclear weapons, intercontinental missiles and submarines equipped with rocket missiles with atomic and hydrogen bomb warheads.

It was the second Soviet warning within two months of Russia's war potential. Last July Deputy War Minister Alexander Vasilevsky said the United States faced a grim fate if it attacked Russia.

Vershinen's warning apparently was set off by the reported declarations of Western leaders that the Soviet Union would be destroyed in any new war but the United States would be saved by its remoteness from Russia's airfields.

Mrs. Chalfant went to court when her estranged husband, Dewey H. Chalfant, Fayette City, took Darlene, 10; Mary Jane, 8; and Chad, 6 to the home of his mother.

The judge ordered the father to turn over the youngsters. He was given the right of visitation and both sides were held responsible for court costs.

Two Cars Collide At Intersection Here

Two cars had to be towed away following an accident this morning at 6:15 at the intersection of East Schoonmaker Ave. and Monessen Highway, local police reported.

Reports said a car driven by Michael Murin, of 1048 State Rd., Monessen, was traveling down the highway when it collided with a car operated by Joseph Essey, of 1217 Summit Ave., Monessen, traveling east on Schoonmaker.

No one was reported injured.

Flood Control Dams Helping to Insure District Water Supply

A system of flood control dams today insured most of Western Pennsylvania with an adequate water supply despite the worst drought in years.

The dams, constructed in recent years to limit water flow in district rivers, are serving an opposite purpose at the moment.

Just enough water is being released daily from the big Tygert Dam to keep the Monongahela River navigable. This has also insured an adequate supply for water companies located in the heavily populated river valley.

According to a spokesman for the Authority of the Boro of Charleroi — the water firm which serves the district — enough water is backed up in the Tygert Dam to keep the river at its present level until mid-December.

The Monongahela River has receded to its lowest stage in years. The upper gauge at U. S. Lock No. 4 in Monessen stands at 14.3 feet, while the lower gauge shows 10.5.

That much water is necessary to lock through the coal-laden barges. As it is, most of the boats using the river have lightened their cargo.

River pilots reported they are scraping bottom at many points along the Monongahela.

The Municipal Authority of Westmoreland County, which supplies customers in some sections of Rostraver Twp., reported that the Beaver Run dam has insured an adequate supply for two more months.

However water companies in other sections of the county have asked customers to curtail their water use.

A survey of county farms revealed heavy drought damage. Joseph Thurston, Westmoreland County farm agent, said that the dry spell has ruined the third cutting of hay.

Agriculture officials foresee a "critical" situation unless a soaking rain comes soon.

Many of the smaller creeks in the county have dried up. Wells and cisterns on most county farms have long since run out of water.

Lawns and gardens have been "browned" by the drought. Leaves on domestic shade trees have fallen off.

At Willowbrook and the Monongahela Valley Country Club, the fairways on the golf courses have been scorched brown.

Weather officials report that the rainfall the past two months amounted to an average of two inches over the county. Normally about four inches falls each month.

Six More Negroes Are Turned Back at Second School in Little Rock

Two Attempts Are Defeated

By UNITED PRESS

Six Negroes were repulsed today at the doors of North Little Rock High School not far from another school that was kept segregated with the troops of Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas.

Negroes made two attempts to gain enrance to the North Little Rock School. The first was stopped by Principal George E. Miller who asked the Negroes to come back later for an office conference. Integration had been scheduled at the school but was postponed by order of the school board.

On the second try, however, the Negroes were followed by a howling crowd and were brought up short at the school door by a white man who barred their way.

He identified himself as L. E. Stroud. Stocky and wearing a wide-brimmed felt hat, Stroud stood with legs spread and firmly planted at the door of the building and said:

Negroes Rejected

"I've got a kid here, and I'm not going to let my kid go to school with any black Negro — — —".

The crowd, jostling and pushing, jeered the Negroes back down the stairs. One Negro said he was struck.

The summer White House announced that an FBI report on Faubus' action had been sent to the Little Rock federal judge who ordered the school integrated.

At Nashville, Tenn. Negro pupils mixed with whites in the first grade here today under protests from segregationists and a group of white parents began withdrawing their children from school.

A boycott movement by white parents began shortly after a scattering of six and seven-year-old Negroes were seated in classrooms with white pupils in Nashville's gradual integration plan.

Police patrolled the streets in front of Nashville where integrated classes were scheduled for the first time. Segregationist pickets paraded nearby, carrying signs reading, "God created segregation."

Fireman's Body Pulled from River

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The body of Patrick Reilly, 63-year-old fireman, was found floating in the Monongahela River today beside the city fire boat.

Reilly, a veteran of more than 40 years in the department, had planned to retire in the near future. Battalion Chief James Hopper said Reilly apparently either suffered a heart attack or tripped over a line and fell into the water.

Hungarian Terror On the Increase

NEW YORK (UP)—A special report charged today that horror in Hungary has increased since the Russians put down last fall's rebellion, turning that country into a "national prison."

The report was issued by a private group to bring the world up to date on the situation in Hungary under Soviet domination. It was released on the eve of a special session of the United Nations General Assembly which meets Tuesday to debate the plight of Red-ruled Hungary.

The document charged there is one guard for every 100 citizens in that country, with a network of Soviet military prisons established and an army of guards scaling the borders against escape.

Operating Costs On Increase in Third Class Cities

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pennsylvania Economy League, in a report analyzing the financial structure of 23 Western Pennsylvania third class cities, said operating costs in the communities rose 87 per cent during the past 10 years.

In the same period, according to the report, the revenues of the cities increased 93.5 per cent. Most of the revenue came from real estate and per capita taxes.

The report praised McKeesport, Duquesne and Clairton for remaining solvent without heavy reliance on the "tax anything" law, passed in 1947, which permits local communities to tax practically anything the state has not already taxed.

Greensburg, Sharon, Jeannette, Monongahela and Farrell had an increase of 100 per cent in revenue during the period.

New Kensington, with a 1956 budget 78.1 per cent larger than in 1947 decreased its debt service, the report said.

"All in all, the 23 cities have managed to find the revenue to meet their ever rising operating costs, while also maintaining a relatively stable debt situation," the report said.

Three-alarm Fire Razes Buildings

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A three-alarm fire Sunday night at the site of a redevelopment project inadvertantly accomplished in a few hours what may have taken demolition crews several days to do.

The blaze destroyed a vacant apartment building that had been condemned to make room for the Lower Hill Redevelopment project near downtown Pittsburgh.

President Waits For Developments

NEWPORT, R.I. (UP)— President Eisenhower today signed the civil rights bill and then awaited developments in Little Rock, Ark., where the school integration issue reached a new boiling point.

The President signed the bill without comment.

"I think the President's views on this bill are very well known," said White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty.

Shortly before the President signed the civil rights bill in his small summer White House office on the Newport Navy Base, Hagerty said that an investigative report, prepared by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation on "the facts" of the integration impasse in Little Rock, would be submitted during the day to Federal Judge Ronald N. Davies.

The President signed the bill at 8:10 a.m. e.d.t., and then left his office to play golf at the Newport Country Club.

Uses Six Pens

The President used six pens to affix his signature to the legislation.

He wrote at the bottom of the bill, "approved, Dwight D. Eisenhower, 9 September 1957, U. S. Naval Base, Newport, R.I."

Before the President signed the measure, Hagerty telephoned Deputy Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers who reported that the investigative report would be delivered to Judge Davies during the day.

The President, before leaving the naval base to play golf with William E. Robinson, president of the Coca Cola Co., talked by long distance telephone with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles about "the Middle East."

The state-federal issue in Arkansas could be resolved if Gov. Orval E. Faubus decided to call off his state troops and permit nine Negroes to enter central High School in Little Rock this morning.

There were indications Faubus had been in touch with federal authorities during the night, and that he might take a softer attitude on integration before he could be cited for federal contempt.

Defense Opens Case Today in Mon City Slaying

WASHINGTON, Pa. (UP)—The defense in the trial of 75-year-old Mrs. Lena Trappin will attempt to prove today that the great grandmother did not murder Joseph Mancuso, a friendly shoemaker.

Mrs. Trappin, a neighbor of the 65-year-old Monongahela cobbler, is accused of strangling him with a belt. His body was found outside her home last May 2.

The defense claims innocence on the premise that Mrs. Trappin was not physically able to strangle Mancuso, that the evidence against her is circumstantial and that the state had failed to establish a motive for the slaying.

In last Friday's action, P. Rene Bedez, an FBI technician, said blood found in the elderly woman's kitchen was the same type as Mancuso's and that buttons found in her house were similar to those missing from his clothing.

Ike Gets Kissed by Two Female Admirers

NEWPORT, R.I. (UP) — President Eisenhower probably had to do some explaining today.

While the first lady was cruising Narragansett Bay aboard the presidential yacht Barbara Anne Sunday, her husband was kissed by two enthusiastic female admirers after playing a Sunday golf round in the "high eighties."

The President, who described his golf as a game of "eights and pars," greeted many persons among a large crowd of spectators as he walked from the golf course to the Newport Country Club clubhouse. He changed shoes in an anteroom and, on his way to his car, entered the main lounge.

Mrs. Edna Flint, 40, of Cranston, R.I., rushed up to the President, threw her arms around him and bussed the surprised Chief Executive on the cheek.

He managed to respond with a, "Thank you very much."

Before secret servicemen could establish who the woman was, Eisenhower was kissed again.

The blushing President said not a word when Mrs. George Guthro, of Providence, R.I., seized the opportunity to throw her arms around him and kiss him near the mouth. He broke away and made a beeline for his car.

Mrs. Guthro and Mrs. Flint had just come out of the club bar. They said later they were in Newport in connection with a meeting of the Builders' Iron Foundation. Mrs. Guthro only snickered when asked her age.

Some members of the fashionable country club were alarmed and apologetic because of the bussing in their handsome drawing room. One old-time member, his white flannel slacks and proper tattersal shirt flapping in the breeze, raced up to reporters and asked they not inform the American public about the kissing ladies.

U. S. Arms Arrive In Jordan

By UNITED PRESS

The first flight of U.S. Air Force transports arrived in Jordan today with emergency shipments of arms to protect Jordan against the threat of aggression from its Communist-influenced neighbors.

Tagged "Operation Good Hope," the weapons were taken to Jordan in giant Globemaster and Flying Boxcar planes in two flights—one from Dover, Del., and the other from Frankfurt, Germany.

The Amman airport was crowded with American and Jordanian dignitaries. King Hussein was not present. He is vacationing in Spain.

The air ferry brought angry reactions in Moscow, Damascus and Cairo. Communist propaganda mills ground out an almost endless stream of invectives, accusing the United States of plotting "aggression" against leftist Syria. Similar charges were made in Damascus where the Syrian cabinet met in emergency session to discuss the situation.

A spokesman for the Department of State in Washington termed Russian and Syrian charges that the U.S. was planning aggression against Syria as "rubbish." He said it is "perfectly obvious it isn't so."

Deplores Arms Race

Asked if the Soviet and Syrian charges might be a cloak for aggressive designs on their part, the spokesman said: "That's one of the reason we are sending arms out there—to make sure they don't do it."

India's Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru deplored the arms race in the Middle East and warned "one wrong step" could lead to conflict and then "bigger" conflict.

Six giant Globemasters and two Flying Boxcar military transport planes were due to arrive in Amman during the day, carrying some 40 recoilless anti-tank guns and other small arms and ammunition.

They were ordered to Jordan by Eisenhower in the wake of the pro-Soviet shift by Syria, Jordan's neighbor. Eisenhower said that additional military and economic aid to friendly Mideast nations has become necessary by the potential threat poised by Soviet arms deliveries to Syria.

Syria was reported to have received a quantity of Soviet-built tanks under its arms deal with Russia. Soviet military aid also was said to include MIG-jet fighters.

In Cairo, Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser said the real aim of the arms shipments was to divide the Arab states and relieve the pressure on Israel. He also charged in an interview in the newspaper Al Ahram, that American arms shipments were designed to "stem the tide of Arab nationalists, to destroy it if possible."

Woman Saves Grandchildren

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (UP)—The vigilance of an elderly woman saved the lives of her grandchildren Sunday night in a fire at their home.

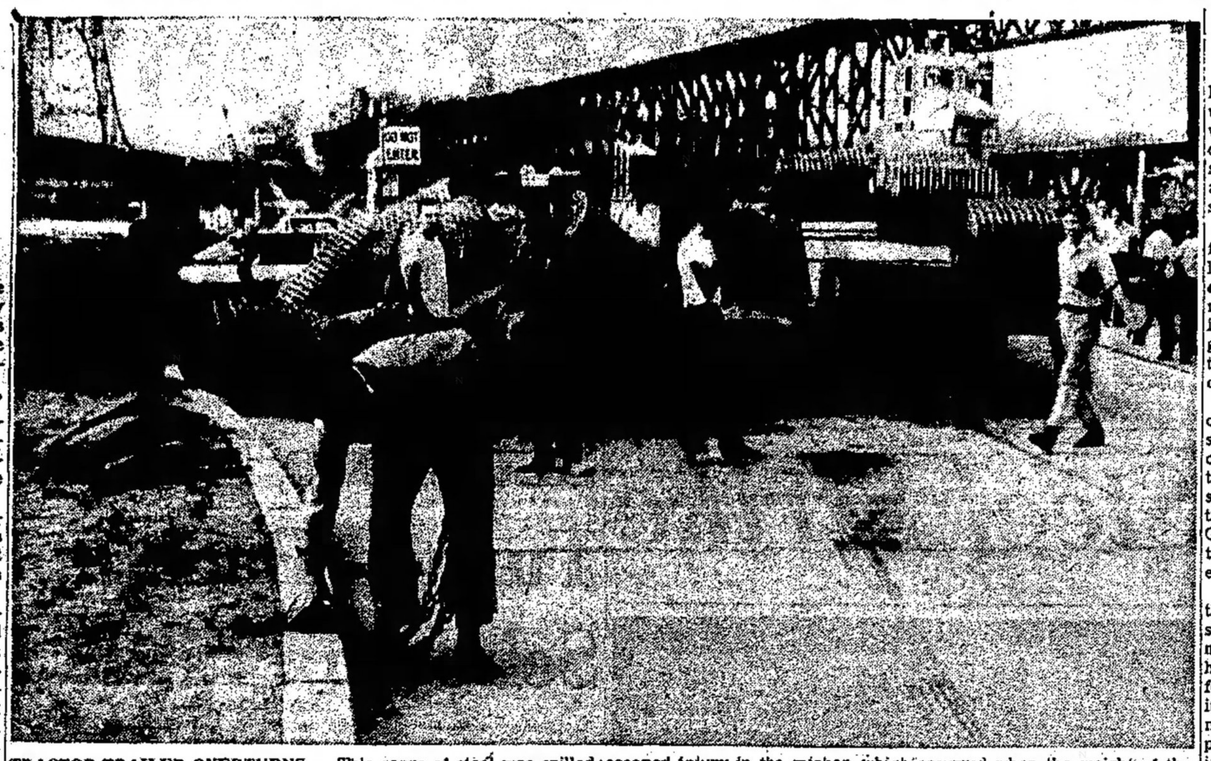
Mrs. Mary Valent, 75, who had been left in charge of the children, Tony Cusic Jr., 13, and his sister, Carol Ann, 12, made it a custom not to go to sleep until the parents returned while she was babysitting.

She discovered a fire in a refrigerator unit in a tavern below the Cusic apartment and began screaming for help.

Carol Ann escaped down the stairs and Tony climbed down from the second floor on a utility pole near a window. Mrs. Valent was led from the house by a neighbor.

Firemen's Homework

UNION, S.C. (UP) — Firemen Bud Keisler and Robert Blalock should have stayed home. The two alarms received during the day came from there.



TRACTOR-TRAILER OVERTURNS — This cargo of steel was spilled on the approach of relocated Route 31 at Belle Vernon this morning when a tractor-trailer overturned. The driver, John Pensis, Charleroi, escaped injury in the mishap which occurred when the weight of the load shifted. The trailer is owned by Steel City Transport, Inc., Pittsburgh.

Road Building Costs Are High, Secretary Says

HARRISBURG (UP) — State Highways Secretary Joseph J. Lawler reported today the average cost of road building in Pennsylvania on the federal interstate system is one million dollars per mile this year.

Lawler said the federal interstate program is "moving into high gear", with bids asked on nine projects during August and September bringing the total number of projects advertised so far in 1957 to 21.

The 13 awards to date this year, he said, totaled $52,337,572, of which almost 49 million dollars was for new construction and the rest for conversion of existing four-lane highways to meet interstate standards.

Among the bids received in the last two months were for work on two new interstate highways—the Erie Throughway and the Scranton By-pass, part of the Binghamton - Stroudsburg interstate route.

Pennsylvania recently was allocated $106,400,000 for the interstate program for the federal fiscal year beginning next July 1. For the fiscal year that began last July 1 the state received $91,100,000. Under the interstate program the federal government pays 90 per cent of the cost of construction and the state the remainder.

Miss America To Hold News Parley Today

NEW YORK (UP) — Marilyn Van Derbur, Miss America of 1958, will hold her first Manhattan press conference today to answer a barrage of questions ranging from her sleeping habits to her preferences in mail companionship.

The Denver, Colo. daughter of a mortician arrived Sunday night from Atlantic City, N.J., where she was crowned the top beauty in the nation at midnight Saturday.

The new Miss America is a green-eyed lovely, five feet 8½ inches tall and weighs 130 pounds. Her other vital statistics are 35-25-36.

Miss Van Derbur's prizes for winning the beauty crown include a $5,000 scholarship, $5,000 in cash plus another $50,000 for personal appearances.

Miss Van Derbur is 20 and believes that the man should be the boss of the home. At least, that's what she told a television audience of about 50 million viewers last Saturday.

Stassen Claims Next Move Up to Soviets

WASHINGTON (UP)—Harold E. Stassen, U.S. disarmament negotiator, insisted today that a first step disarmament agreement eventually will be reached because of the dangers of nuclear war.

Returning to Washington from the unsuccessful talks in London, Stassen said the next move is up to Russia.

"If the Russians would express willingness to stop production of fissionable materials for weapons uses," he said, "then I believe we could move on to a first step agreement on disarmament."

Stassen emphasized that the break up of the London talks was "a matter of a recess, not a collapse."

"It is a matter of an interval, not a breakoff," he said.

"I believe the day will come when we will reach agreement on a first-step disarmament plan. The nations of the world know nuclear war would be a great loss for every one."

Stassen has been negotiating in London with the Russians for more than five months.

He returned home to report to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on failure of the five-nation United Nations subcommittee to work out a first step agreement. The subcommittee, he said, will not report to the 12-nation disarmament commission at the United Nations.

There was no advance word on whether Stassen also would seek an early meeting with President Eisenhower to talk over the next move in the East-West disarmament struggle.

Stassen was reported unhappy with some aspects of the administration's position on the now-exploded London negotiations with Britain, France, Canada and Russia. For one thing he apparently felt the complicated plan he was compelled to present piecemeal made it almost certain Russia would reject the proposal.

He also was reported chafing at the tight checkrein kept on him by Dulles, compared to the relatively free hand he had when he reported directly to Eisenhower. Stassen's job was put under Dulles' direction earlier this year.

Accidents

Theakston, of 322 Wood St., was taken to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital about 9:45 last night when his car crashed on the Belle Vernon-Fayette City Rd.

A car driven by Mike Naczko, 42, 909 Water street, Brownsville, was struck by a hit and run driver at 3:15 a. m. Sunday on Route 31, one-half mile west of Washington. Police said the car was struck in the rear and pushed off the highway onto a lawn.

A five-year-old Cokeburg boy, Bruno Bogdewic, escaped serious injury at 2:45 p. m. Sunday when he was struck by a motorcycle operated by Lannie Marcoux, 243 Piersol avenue, Bentleyville.

State police said the child was crossing the street at the intersection of Lincoln and Franklin streets in Cokeburg and had started to go back when he was struck by the motorcycle.

The boy was treated for head lacerations and multiple abrasions at Washington Hospital, and released.

Strike

inch and 46-inch mills over work assignments. The work stoppage then spread to the blooming mill and four of 11 working open hearths were shut down.

The strikers were reported protesting a change in work assignments, which the company said was necessitated by a six-day shutdown to allow installation of new equipment — part of the company's current $81½ million expansion program.

Duvall said the strikers "made demands on how they would work and how they would not work. Naturally the company refused these demands because they are in direct violation of the contract, which set up grievance procedure to be followed in such cases."

Carl A. Breuer, vice president-operations, said today it is still not known how long the strike would have to last before the entire plant has to be shut down.

It was learned, however, that the company is working out a shutdown schedule "just in case."

The strike has been peaceful and no picket lines have been set up.

E. Hosse said orderly picketing would be permitted. But he warned that "if there is any disorder or if anyone gets up on the school grounds to try to intimidate anyone, they'll be arrested on the spot."

Tension in Little Rock was at fever-pitch in the wake of Faubus' latest defiance of the federal government. Little Rock Mayor Woodrow Wilson Mann, after considering using city police at the school grounds, said late Sunday night the issue was too serious for the city to handle.

Mann, who has accused Faubus of creating tension at the high school site as a "political hoax," called on President Eisenhower to take "realistic" action. The mayor said Faubus' "words spell sedition." He urged that National Guardsmen ringing the school be taken out of the hands of the governor and federalized.

In his boldest stand to date on the tense Little Rock integration situation, Faubus said Sunday night the United States would have to back down on its demand for immediate integration. He reiterated his position that guardsmen were at the high school to preserve the peace, not to prevent integration.

Interviewed over a nationwide television hookup, the governor said that if Arkansas guards were federalized he would be deluged with offers of volunteer help from other states.

Dangerous Carrie in South Atlantic Area

MIAMI (UP)—Carrie, maturing into a "very dangerous" hurricane spread out over the South Atlantic with 145 mile-an-hour winds, today but its dying sister storm Debbie sloshed rain squalls against the eastern slope of the Carolina-Virginia mountains.

Carrie posed no threat to any land points, moving about 2,200 miles east southeast of Miami. And Debbie had lost the 60 mile-an-hour punch it hurled briefly against the Florida Gulf Coast today.

An Air Force "hurricane hunter' plane found Carrie late Sunday moving on a west - northwest course at a low 10 miles per hour, spreading its fury over an increasing area of ocean. Another plane was to collect more data on the tempest today.

The San Juan, Puerto Rico, Weather Bureau classified Carrie as "a very dangerous hurricane" and said it could be expected to increase in size but not much in intensity.

"Highest winds are estimated to be about 145 miles per hour over a small area near the center," a late advisory said.

Hurricane force winds spread 75 miles to the north and 50 miles to the south, while gale force winds pushed outward 125 miles in the northern semicircle and 75 miles to the south."

Debbie, more an atmospheric "depression" with rain squalls than a full blown tropical storm, pushed inland from the Gulf of Mexico Sunday, thoroughly wetting northern Florida, Georgia and the Carolinas with rains up to four inches. One small community in Florida's northwest "panhandle," Crawfordville, reported an unofficial 9.1 inches of rain in 24 hours.

Demands For Steel Increase

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP)—Steel magazine reported today demands for steel and production have increased slightly although the hikes are not spread evenly across the range of steel products.

The national metalworking weekly said cold-rolled carbon sheets are most favored in the increase as a result of automakers' initial demands for 1958 models. Other items also in stronger demand are hot-rolled carbon sheets, cold-finished carbon bars, and high carbon spring wire for automobiles.

Steel said that despite the increase in ordering of these products, most producers can still make September deliveries on them.

The magazine reported that steel ingot production rose last week for the fourth consecutive week. Production edged up a half point over the preceding week. The output registered 83 per cent of capacity in the week ending Sept. 8. The magazine said the yield was 2,124,000 net tons and production was 4.5 per cent above the year's low mark of 78.5 per cent recorded the week ending July 7.

Farm Implements

Steel said the auto industry is not alone in exerting increased demands for steel. It said the farm implement industry can be counted on, too. The industry is operating at 15 to 20 per cent above levels of one year ago with prospects that the increased pace will continue.

The magazine said a 10 per cent boost anticipated in production of household equipment next year will mean more business for partmakers. But it added that the long term trend among appliance makers is to make rather than buy.

Sales of scientific apparatus are headed for another record year, according to the magazine. Indications are that sales should reach 340 million dollars this year.

Steel said the nonferrous industry may hit an all-time production record this year. But it warned of a possible sharp drop in demand, with the increased output going into producers' stockpiles.

Scrap prices declined for the third straight week. The latest decline in steel's price composite on steelmaking grades lowered the composite 34 cents to $51.83 a gross ton in the week ending Sept. 4.

Steel's composite on finished steel base prices remained at $146.19 a net ton.

Three Admit to Bus Robberies

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Police said today they have confessions from three men who staged trolley and bus robberies in Pittsburgh during the past few months.

Break in the case came last week when two of the suspects were captured while trying to aid their two girl friends escape from the Morganza State Training School at Canonsburg, Washington County.

The suspects were identified as Andrew W. Glover Jr., 21; Rayford Holden, 18, and George Larue, 21, all of Pittsburgh. Glover and Holden were picked up by state police at Morganza last Tuesday. Under questioning concerning the robberies, they implicated Larue.

Dr. Finkelhor, founder and president of the college, said that Miss Cramer will specialize in the medical secretarial course.

Seven-foot Americans in 2,500 A. D., Expert Claims

NEW YORK (UP) — The American male is growing taller, slenderer and more fastidious about the shirt on his back, according to one of America's leading anthropometrists.

Lewis Warmkessel of Pottsville, Pa., has spent 37 years in the field of anthropometry—the science of measuring the human body and its functional capacities. His studies have provided a caboodle of fascinating facts about the skeleton that lurks beneach man's fleshy facade.

"Man is trending toward skeletal elegance," said the 54-year-old designer for the Phillips - Van Heusen Corp, shirt manufacturers. "By 2,500 A.D. the American male may well reach an average height of seven feet with a splendid, lean physique that we already are beginning to identify with Texans."

Warmkessel began his career as a pattern-maker at Van Heusen's Pottsville plant in 1920 when men were beginning to chafe under celluloid collars and wonder why shirt sleeves couldn't be shortened to eliminate arm garters.

'Very Unscientific'

"We were very unscientific then," Warmkessel remarked "But gradually we provided soft, rumpleless collars that fitted the neck neatly but comfortably and a system of sleeve lengths. But it wasn't until World War II that we did anything about fitting the body of the shirt to the torso."

Warmkessel worked with the Army in developing the "suppressed" shirt that tapered in at the waist to give man a fitted look when his coat came off. The designer also takes credit for adding enough material to the tail of the Army shirt so a GI can give a snappy salute without exposing his midriff.

All these developments resulted from careful studies of skeletal formation and pattern work from plaster casts of men of average height with different chest dimensions. Warmkessel has access to the measurements of 500,000 males from all over the world.

"The history of the shirt industry is the history of man's search for comfort plus good styling," he said. "It began with the Roman toga. We anthropometrists owe a lot to the observations of Leonardo da Vinci and Michelangelo, both of whom worked out systems of proportion for the human body that hold true today."

Warmkessel's analysis lead him to conclude that there are marked national and regional variations in men's dimensions. The average American Joe is five feet, nine inches tall—a match for the average Scottish laddie who ranks as Europe's tallest. Men of America's farm regions tend to have bigger wrists and forearms than their city brothers, while southern males are taller and thinner than northerners.

DOVER, England (UP) — Three men and a dog left here Sunday in a 12-ton yawl on a voyage they hope will take them around the world in the next four years. Bernard Yendall, 27, said he and his two crewmembers aboard the 29-year-old "Maryann" have only enough supplies to last a few weeks. They plan to take jobs at ports of call to make their way.

Russian Pilot Says He Pulled Away from Tags

MOSCOW (UP)—Jet pilot Boris P. Bugayev said Sunday his Soviet TU104 jet airliner outdistanced two American bombers on its return from the United States.

Bugayev, who set his plane down at Vnukovo Airfield following a flight from McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey, said the American jet bombers "shadowed" his plane to get performance data.

He said one American four-engined bomber attached itself to the Red plane shortly after leaving McGuire "and measured the climbing rate of our aircraft."

"When the (Soviet) crew noticed this aircraft," he said, "they somewhat increased the rate of revolutions of the turbines and the bomber rapidly vanished from view."

He said the Russians noticed another American bomber halfway between New York and Goose Bay, Labrador.

"The crew did the same thing as in the first instance," he said.

29 Dead in Second Japanese Typhoon

TOKYO (UP) — The second typhoon of the year left 29 persons dead or missing in Japan, reports reaching Tokyo from southern Kyushu said today.

Typhoon Bess, which vanished early Sunday off the Kurile Islands north of Japan, affected more than 24,000 persons on Kyushu and Shikoku Islands and parts of southwestern and central Honshu, the main Japanese island.

Adenauer Attacks to Backfire

BONN, Germany (UP) — Russia's new blunt warning that Germany can be reunited only on the terms laid down by the Kremlin will lend added support to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in the forthcoming crucial West German general elections, political observers said today.

The observers said the attack on Adenauer's pro - Western policies by Moscow will backfire on the Communists and others who have been advocating adoption of a more neutral position between East and West. They said the Soviet note should convince the "fence-sitters" among West Germans that Adenauer has charted the correct course.

Adenauer Assailed

Moscow assailed Adenauer in a harshly-worded note delivered as the campaign for the Sept. 15 general elections entered the final week. The note was handed by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to West German Ambassador Dr. Wilhelm Hass in Moscow Saturday night. It was in reply to a communication from the Bonn government last May.

The Soviet note reiterated that direct negotiations between East and West Germany is the only avenue to reunification. It rejected again the Western proposals for reunification through free and secret elections.

The Russians also charged West German rearmament is a threat to European peace. And that the Bonn government was leading Germany "along a dangerous path."

Adenauer is seeking re-election for a third term on a platform calling for close alliance with the United States and other free Western nations as the best hope for recovering German unity.

The 81-year-old chancellor also insists that West German rearmament is essential to this program

Christian Unity Talks Very Successful; Much Progress Is Reported

OBERLIN, Ohio (UP)—Church leaders agreed today that important progress toward Christian unity has been achieved at the Oberlin conference of 47 Protestant and Orthodox denominations.

The conference will end Tuesday with adoption of "a message to the churches" summing up the results of eight days of unity talks by nearly 500 leading theologians, ministers and laymen.

The message is expected to call on local churches throughout North America to continue discussion of issues raised here at thousands of interdenominational conferences on the community level.

Dr. Samuel McCray Cavert, executive secretary of the U.S. conference for the World Council of Churches, said it is necessary for "rank and file Christians" to learn, as delegates to Oberlin have learned, the "the unity which they have by reason of faith in one Lord is of vastly greater moment than any of the things that divide them."

Episcopal Bishop Angus Dunn of Washington, D.C., chairman, said the Oberlin talks have been conducted in the most amicable constructive spirit he has witnessed in 35 years of participation of the worldwide church unity movement.

Instead of squaring off to fight in defense of their own denominational positions, he said, the delegates have displayed a sincere willingness to "learn from one another in Christian humility."

To many participants, the most impressive aspect of the conference has been the strongly orthodox tenor of doctrinal discussions. It has been strikingly evident in all conference working sessions that America's leading theologians have returned en masse to "biblical Christianity."

Many years ago, a conference of this type would almost certainly have resulted in pitched battle between theologians adhering to the classic Christian creed and "modernists" who doubted or denied the divinity of Jesus Christ.

Quarles Denies Soviet Ahead in Missile Race

NEW YORK (UP)—Deputy Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles said confidently today that Russia will not beat America in the Intercontinental Ballistic Missile race.

He told the U.S. conference of mayors that this country credits the Soviets with substantial progress in long-range ballistic missile work.

But he belittled the Russian claim of Aug. 26 that an intercontinental ballistic rocket had been tested successfully. He said the Russian announcement created "an impression that substantially exceeded the truth."

"After examining all the evidence," Quarles said in a prepared speech, "I am confident that we will not be outdistanced in this so - called ballistic missile race."

Some Democratic senators have contended the missile program is being curtailed and have called for a speedup in view of the Russian announcement.

Quarles said, "we make no apology for any economies that we can achieve even in these very high priority programs." But "we still do not expect to be beaten in this ballistic missile race," he added.

The secretary said the race, however, has been exaggerated in its military importance. The intercontinental ballistic missile will be only one means of delivering atomic destruction.

"So long as we have well proven manned bomber systems that have the ability to penetrate and reconnoiter the target area," Quarles said, "ballistic missiles will not even be preferred methods of accomplishing the mission."

Wildcat Strikes A Serious Flaw

WE DON'T see how any system of labor-management relations can claim to have reached a stage of responsible maturity as long as it tolerates the juvenile delinquency which goes by the name of "wildcat strike."

Such a strike occurred at the Pittsburgh Steel Co. plant in Monessen in recent days. And although the dispute, whatever it involved, concerned only 13 employes originally, it immediately idled 340 others and threatened the jobs of several thousand more, to say nothing about its effects on a business whose continuity is vital to the whole community.

There is no point in inquiring into the merits of such a dispute since those employes who strike in violation of a signed contract immediately forfeit the sympathy of responsible people, including their own fellow workers, their employers and even their union. By acting outside the law and casting aside their obligations, they actually make it difficult, perhaps impossible, for their grievances, even though these may be just, to receive proper consideration.

But even though this fact has been demonstrated in countless experiences, wildcat strikes persist. And they constitute one of the major nuisances throughout the steel industry. More than that, they act as a serious obstacle to wholesome labor-management relations if only because they make employers cynical and distrustful.

* * *

THE PROBLEM, of course, is the primary responsibility of the United Steelworkers union and its officers, local and national. They have undertaken by legal contract to guarantee the employer against unauthorized interruptions of production. And the wildcat strike makes the guarantee worthless.

We're not sure that all union officials take this as seriously as they should. They habitually avoid any public condemnation of wildcat strikers and, on some occasions, even pretend that they know nothing about what is taking place. This leaves both the public and union members guessing as to whether there may not, after all, be some merit in the strike.

We think the time has come for both unions and employers to quit accepting the wildcat strike as a sort of necessary evil which everybody more or less regrets but which nobody can do much about eradicating. Such strikes are evidence of a serious flaw in labor-management relations, and both sides are duty-bound to seek the underlying cause and eliminate it.

Good Zoning Vital To City's Future

THE SERIES of articles now appearing in The Daily Independent describing the provisions of a proposed new zoning ordinance for Monessen deserve the attention of all who are concerned with the future development of the city.

As the first of these articles pointed out, an up-to-date zoning law properly enforced must be one of the foundation blocks of any worthwhile development program. It is necessary to preserve the value of the physical property in the city which is regarded as desirable; it provides for the gradual elimination of land uses which are not desirable, and it insures orderly development in the future in accordance with a scientifically planned program.

Zoning, of course, is nothing new for Monessen. A zoning ordinance has been on the books here since the late 1920s, and although many of its provisions are now outmoded and it has had some periods of indifferent enforcement, it has generally been an indispensable tool in holding both private and public development to standards which conform to the overall public interest.

The Planning Commission has spent several months of intense study on its proposals for the new ordinance. It has had the benefit of expert advice. The result is a bill which we believe the City Council can enact with confidence.

Before this is done, however, both the Planning Commission and the Council must hold public hearings at which citizens who may object to some provisions of the bill will have a chance to register their objections. Also, those who wish to indicate their support of the zoning plan can be heard.

It is quite possible that these hearings will result in some changes being made before final action is taken. And by all means, both the Planning Commission and the Council should go into the public hearings with open minds.

They should not, however, compromise any matter of public interest just to accomodate some private interest, no matter how persuasive the latter might be. The first principle of good zoning practice, which is the only kind worth the trouble, is that it places the welfare of the whole community before everything else.

With this guiding principle in mind, the Planning Commission's proposals should now be refined and improved where necessary and enacted into law.

Merry-Go-Round—

Congressmen Will Enjoy Free Trips

(Editor's Note: While Drew Pearson is touring the Mediterranean, his column is written by his junior partner.)

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — With Congress out, emancipated senators and representatives are scattering in all directions looking for something to investigate in far-away places.

After a quick unofficial count, the State Department places the expected exodus at about 190. Secretary of State Dulles has warned our embassies around the world to brace for a mass invasion.

He has also ordered them to treat the junketing lawmakers extra nice. In a more material way, Dulles has instructed the embassies to give congressional visitors all the local currency they want — no questions asked and none answered in case the press should get nosey.

This is the wish of Congress, which doesn't want the public to know how much counterpart money the junketeers spend. The expense accounts are turned into the House Administration and Senate Appropriations Committees, which quietly voted not to make them public.

All a congressman needs in order to stuff his pockets full of free spending money is a requisition signed by any committee chairman. Few chairmen set a limit on the amount that can be drawn.

Some junketeers will work hard overseas gathering information to shape future legislation. Otehrs will attend international meetings and spread good will. But most plan simply to take a vacation at the taxpayers' expense.

Avoid Publicity

Many congressmen will try to slip overseas without publicity. Those who voted for government economy don't want to get caught squandering the taxpayers' money themselves.

For the voters' benefit, this column will name the senators and representatives who have privately advised their committees of overseas travel plans. Admittedly, the list is incomplete, and some may change their plans after seeing their names in print.

Biggest load will be flown by the Navy to London to attend the Interparliamentary Union, a worthy purpose. But the group will break up into vacationing parties and tour Europe at the taxpayers' expense.

Scheduled to make the free trip are Sens. Estes Kefauver (D. Tenn.), Bill Fulbright (D., Ark.), Tom Hennings (D. Mo.), Mike Monroney (D., Okla.), Strom Thurmond (D., S. C.), Allen Frear (D., Del.), Alex Wiley (R., Wis., and Gordon Allott (R., Colo.; also Rep. Harold Cooley (D.-N. C., Hale Boggs (D., La.; Bob Poage (D., Tex., John McMillan (D., S. C., Charles Hoeh Calif, John Robsion (R., Ky.), Antoni Sadlak (R., Conn.), and Katharine St. George (R., N. Y.).

All plan to take their wives except Mrs. St. George, of course, and Keating, who will bring his daughter instead. Boggs will bring both his wife and daughter: Sadlak his wife, son and daughter.

Atomic Junket

Another big junket has been arranged by the joint atomic watchdog committee, which will be flown to Europe in a special Air Force plane on Sept. 23. Once overseas, this group, too, intends to break up into smaller junkets.

On the passenger list are Sens. Albert Gore (D., Tenn.), John Pastore (D., R. I.), Bourke Hickenlooper (R., Iowa), and John Bricker (R., Ohio); also Reps. Chet Holifield (D., Calif.), Carl Durham (D., N. C.), Jack Dempsey (D., N. M.), Sterling Cole (R., N. Y.), Walter Judd (R.-Minn.), and James Van Zandt (R., Pa.). Wives so far signed up include Mrs. Hickenlooper, Mrs. Holifield, Mrs. Dempsey, Mrs. Cole and Mrs. Van Zandt.

Congressman Holifield will attempt the difficult feat of going on two junkets at the same time. He is also scheduled to lead a House Government Operations subcommittee to Europe, also by special Air Force plane, the day before the atomic watchdog committee takes off. Holifield has made elaborate plans to switch back and forth between junkets. At some points, he will be on one junket and his wife on another.

Accompanying Holifield on the Government Operations trip will be Congressmen Ed. Garmatz (D., Md.), Joe Kilgore (D., Tex.), Dante Fascell (D., Fla.), Walt Riehlman (R., N. Y.), Glenard Lipscomb (R., Calif.), Bill Minshall (R., Ohio), and Congresswoman Martha Griffiths (D.-Mich.). How many wives will go along hasn't been determined yet.

Fascell is already in Paris investigating overseas expenditures — along with Congressmen Bob Michel (R., Ill.), Ed May (R.-Conn.), Congresswoman Cecil Harden (R., Ind.) and her husband.

The U. N. and Hungary

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

The United Nations Assembly meets in special session this week to consider its report on Hungary — and the Soviet Union doesn't like it a bit.

Moscow doesn't want a U. N. meeting on Hungary, it doesn't want a debate and least of all does it want any U. N. action.

Mr. Drummond

Why shouldn't there be some U. N. action, perhaps some fairly bold action? Why shouldn't Moscow's destruction of the legal government of Hungary be kept alive and visible? Why shouldn't every conceivable obstacle, large and small, be put in the way of the Kremlin's continued domination of a people whose only defense was to fight for their national freedom?

There will be some who will counsel inaction because they will say they don't want to show up the weakness of the United Nations. There will be others who will counsel inaction because they don't want to offend the Soviets when, as they will say, nothing can be done.

Reds Encourage Myth

That's the myth — the myth that nothing can be done. That is the bland, hypnotic suggestion that Soviets want us to accept, that whatever they have done to another nation can never be reversed, that the United Nations is helpless, that the free people are helpless.

Bear in mind that the United Nations' own investigative report, prepared by a fact-finding committee comprising the delegates from Denmark, Tunisia, Uruguay and Ceylon, concluded unanimously that the Soviet Union carried out a "massive armed intervention" in Hungary to suppress a revolution which had no outside assistance and that no legal government of Hungary ever requested Soviet aid.

This is the heart of the report which will go before the U. N. this week. Why should the U. N. look the other way or take a quick squint and duck? The U. N. Assembly can act and here are some of the actions which, it seems to me, it could take:

1 — Adopt the committee's report, its findings of fact and its conclusions.

Cite Soviet Union

2 — Determine whether this "massive armed intervention" is a violation of the U. N charter and, if so determined, cite the Soviet Union as a violator.

3 — Refuse the credentials of the U. N. representative of the Soviet-imposed Kadar regime which the U. N. committee finds to have no legal basis as the government of Hungary.

4 — Bearing in mind that the legal government of Hungary, headed by Imre Nagy, sought the good offices of the U. N. to help preserve its independence, the United Nations can still respond to this appeal (1) by calling for the removal of all Soviet forces, (2) by offering to the Hungarian people the willingness of the U. N. to supervise free elections so that a legal successor to the Nagy government can be chosen and (3) by offering to station U. N. peace troops on all Hungary's borders to guarantee against incidents.

5 — Authorize the establishment of a permanent U. N. Peace Force which can be used promptly if further need should arise.

These are actions appropriate to the facts. Note these statements from the U. N. report:

"It is incontrovertible that the Nagy government, whose legality under the Hungarian constitution, until it was deposed, cannot be contested, protested against the entry and use of Soviet forces on Hungarian territory.

Nagy Overthrown

"It is no less incontrovertible that the Nagy government was overthrown by force. Its successor assumed power as a result of military aid by a foreign state. The Nagy government neither resigned nor transferred its power to the Kadar government.

"In the light of the extent of foreign intervention, consideration (by the U. N.) of the Hungarian question was legally proper. It was requested by a legal government of Hungary.

"A massive armed intervention by one power on the territory of another, with the avowed intention of interfering with the internal affairs of the country must, by the Soviet's own definition of aggression, be a matter of international concern."

No realistic person will assume that these actions will readily free Hungary from Soviet rule. But they will do two things: They will make it harder, instead of easier, for Soviet tanks to remain on and on and on; they will make this "massive armed intervention" more visible for more to see — as a lesson and a warning to those who get within reach of the Kremlin.

Behind The News—

Turkey Threatened by Russian Penetration

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Turkey is threatened seriously by Soviet Russian penetration of the Middle East.

Emphasis is being put on the danger which the rise of pro-Communist elements in Syria presents to Jordan, Iraq and Lebanon.

Mr. McCann

But Turkey is as alarmed over the situation as is any of the pro-Western Arab countries. It feels, with good reason, that it is being encircled. It fears that it may become a victim of Communist aggression.

Turkey has a 400-mile frontier on its eastern side with the Soviet Union. It has a 100-mile frontier, on its European side, with Russia's satellite Bulgaria. It has been reported that Russian military forces have been built up in Bulgaria in recent months. Now Turkey faces a pro-Communist Syria on 500 miles of its southern border.

A Solid Barrier

It happens that Turkey constitutes a solid land barrier on Russia's path to Arab Asia.

Turkey has long been anxious over the Syrian situation. As long ago as last November Turkish intelligence agents learned that Russia was smuggling arms to Syria in ships which passed through the Turkish Straits from the Black Sea.

The reports indicated that Syria was getting far more weapons than its small army could use. Turkey believed that they might be intended for Russia's own use in event of a blow up in the Middle East.

When there was danger a few months ago that Syria might attack Jordan in an attempt to overthrow pro-Western King Hussein, Turkey moved troops in some force to the Syrian frontier. It made it known that it would intervene if necessary.

It was not just an accident that Loy W. Henderson, the State Department's No. 1 Middle Eastern expert, made Turkey his base of operations when he flew to investigate the Syrian situation.

A Growing Anxiety

Henderson conferred in Turkey not only with Premier Adnan Menderes but also with King Hussein of Jordan and King Faisal of Iraq who were visiting there.

Because of its growing anxiety, Turkey has bee urging with increasing insistence that the United States join fully in the Baghdad Pact—the Middle Eastern treaty organization against Communist aggression.

Turkey is a member of both the Baghdad Pact and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The United States sponsored the Baghdad Pact, of which Turkey, Iraq, Iran, Pakistan and Britain are members. But the American government, while it has strengthened its cooperation with the alliance, has refused to join it outright.

The American position is that full United States membership in the Baghdad Pact might antagonize those Arab countries which oppose it. But Turkey is concerned about Soviet Russia. It feels that American membership in the pact might make Russia a bit more cautious.

The Lighter Side—

Office Grouch Protests Beauty Contest Trend

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP) — Now, men, about these beauty contests.

Wilbur, our office grouch, is in a snarling mood over the direction in which beauty contests are headed in this country. He says they are headed away from the proper emphasis — on physical beauty — and toward heaven-knows-what.

"Today, even to compete in a so-called 'beauty contest,' a gal has to do an Indian dance, or the Hindu rope trick, or bounce around on a trampoline, or play the gee-tar while hanging upside down from a flying trapeze, or show some other alleged talent," he complained.

"I have no objection to girls who recite selections from Eugene Field's philosophical works, or play the oboe, or demonstrate the cannonball-fadeaway serve in volley ball, or imitate Adolf Hitler shaking hands with Benito Mussolini, or give an impression of Jerry Lewis giving an impression of Al Jolson.

Talents Are Fine

"I think all these talents are fine and a credit to the great American girl, who, goodness knows, may be tomorrow's woman and hence—as every Englishman has learned — charged with dominating tomorrow's man.

"But what I want to know is, what has a knack for yodeling the St. Louis Blues while swimming the backstroke or tying a sheepshank knot in a yo-yo string while the yo-yo is going — what has that got to do with beauty? The trend in bathing beauty contests is away from ability to fill a swim suit properly. What they pay attention to now is how the young lady behaves herself at breakfast, and such."

But look, Wilbur, the Miss America show in television is a fine and exciting and beautiful thing and everybody likes it.

"Yah yah yah," said Wilbur. "Exciting to who? Exciting for women, that's who. The Miss America contest is a show mainly for women — because it's a woman who is showing off and being glorified."

Likes Showing Off

But Wilbur, you know yourself you like women showing off.

"Not when they take the sex out of it," said Wilbur. "Not then."

But Wilbur.

"Don't but-Wilbur me. And you take that every-year beer brewery contest where you get to vote for the best looking model, to elect Miss Beerbust of 1957, or whatever they call her. Why do the six finalists look just about the same every year? Why can't they get a Mae West type, or something, in to break the monotony?"

You mean they're just too nice and wholesome looking?

"I mean why can't — if they're going to go all-out for sameness— why can't they glorify the plain American girl — hold a contest to find the plainest, slouchiest, nothingest girl and have her sponsor a plain American dish, like cabbage. And if she can play the tuba, too, all right."

Pay no attention to Wilbur. Some days he gets real mean.

"LONG HAIR TALK"

By James V. Bonafed

What does all this talk about "longer hair" really mean? It puts me in mind of the flurry caused by the famous designer Dior, when he brought out "ankle-length suit skirts" recently. It's news . . . but very few women can wear them well!

-o-

Hair length, like skirt length, is only smart if it flatters you! And, like skirt length, hair length is best approached with moderation. Fairly short hair is a practical length. It's far easier to manage . . and it looks so much smarter on most women . . . busy career girl . . . homemaker . . . clubwoman.

-o-

If you do have long hair and wish to keep it . . . we can give you a casual permanent wave! But . . . we'll want to shape and trim it just a little bit before the waving process, in order to assure you of a successful wave pattern in the finished permanent. And . . . if your hair is very long . . . it may require a double permanent wave . . . twice as much lotion and twice as much neutralizer . . . but we'll tell you in advance.

-o-

Some women like the effect of long hair, but prefer to care for shorter hair! You can have both . . . our hair styling experts can make short hair look long . . . transforming your not-yet-fully-grown bob into a romantic long-look coif. We will be pleased to demonstrate this magic with scissor and brush. Or you can choose a hair piece matched to your own hair shade! Keep your hair short . . . but add a separate hair piece when you want a coiffure that looks longer. We'll design a "two-way" hairstyle just for you . . . equally smart with or without the added tresses. If you have been considering a hair piece . . . let's discuss it this week!

-o-

You don't need a "lot of hair" for the new look . . . but you do need a different type of permanent wave. We'll put in a firmer curl underneath . . . a 'built-in petticoat' . . . building hair body but achieving soft, wide waves on top. It's a complicated wave . . . and only a professional has the know how. Let us give you that "wonderful new look!"

-o-

New looks are our specialty . . . isn't it time you had one?

Ronnie Smith, tackle candidate for Dale Simpson's Lincoln Midget team, is wondering why Melvin Mills, shortstop on the Donora CIO baseball team is an assistant coach for Simpson . . . Post World War II Golfers Average 35

By OSCAR FRALEY

BROOKLINE, Mass. (UP) — They're playing mathematical roulette as the U.S. Amateur golf championship gets under way today and the odds favor the Teeside gamblers who are thirty-ish.

The late Bob Gardner won this event the first of two times in 1909 when he was a 19-year-old Yale undergraduate. Yet times change and when Congressman Jack Westland took it in 1952 he was 47.

But the average age of the champions in the post-World War II era has been 35 and they'll have a hard time dusting off this elder contingent when the pitch and putt party proceeds over the hallowed grounds of what the local gentry refer to as "The" Country Club.

It Was First

They call it such because, local rumor has it, this was "the" first organized country club in "19-hole" history.

This is the fifth national event they have staged at "The" Country Club and a gaffer hasn't survived yet. Francis Ouimet, golfingly as important hereabouts as Paul Revere, became the first amateur ever to win the U.S. Open when he flattened such immortals as Harry Vardon and Ted Ray in 1913. Francis was only 20 at the time.

Lawson Little copped the U.S. Amateur over these acres in 1934. "Old Cannonball" was only 24. And, in the two previous amateurs held at "The" Country Club, ancients Bill Fownes and Jess Sweetser were a couple of youngsters.

Some To Watch

So, fellow putt palpitators, keep your optics on such of the younger brigade as Jim Tom Blair of St. Louis, 26, and amateur golf's longest hitter; 25-year-old Hillman Robbins of Memphis; and such 21-year-olds as Rex Baxter of Amarillo, Joe Campbell of Knoxville, Jim Hiskey of Pocatello, Idaho, and Ward Wettlaufer of Buffalo. Nor should you even overlook 18-year-old Don Essig of Indianapolis or the two 17-year-old "babies" of the brassie brigade. Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, and Larry Beck of Kingston, N.D.

If form holds, then the victor may develop from among 36-year-old Dale Morey of Indianapolis; 35-year-olds Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C., Irishman Joe Carr of Dublin and Arnold Blum of Macon, Ga.; 34-year-old Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va. or 35-year-olds Reid Jack of Scotland, the British champ, or Charley Coe of Oklahoma City.

The first friction matches in America were manufactured at Thurmont, Md., in 1825.

Final Week of Pre-Season Practice

Midgets Open Up Tomorrow

Monessen's Midget Football League lifts the lid on its 1957 season tomorrow night at 7:15 o'clock at Memorial Stadium with a doubleheader on tap.

Frank-Lin, coached by Alex (Mooney) Kachmarik will take on Dale Simpson's Lincoln eleven in the early tilt followed by a clash at between Carmen DeMarco's Jeffersons and Bucky Lutes' Vocational team.

The Lutes entry is the defending champion.

Donora Eleven 'Team To Beat' in Big Five

(This is another in a series of round-up articles on Valley grid teams. More will follow prior to the opening games on September 13 and 14. Monessen will be covered in daily stories here.)

Coach Jimmy Russell of Donora High School's Dragons, the dean of Monongahela Valley high school grid coaches, who is starting his 27th season at the Dragon helm is again being put on the spot this season.

This is "old news" to the veteran bossman of the Dragons, who seems to be in the same predicament about every three or four years. The past two seasons Donora grid fortunes have dipped to a low point but it appears that things are on their way up, in fact possibly "way up" this season.

Reason for all this enthusiasm is the return of some of the best backfield talent to grace Legion Field in Donora since perhaps the days of Deacon Dan Towler, Roscoe Ross, Arnold Galiffa, Bimbo Cecconi and Company around 1944-45. In addition to the ball-carrying returnees, three regulars are back in the line plus others who saw considerable action last season.

The backfield which is causing rival coaches and valley sportswriters to pick the Dragons as the team to beat for the Big Six Conference title this season, consists of Davey Russell at quarterback, a veteran who operates cooly under fire and can pass and option with the best; Angie Dabiero, who finished a close second to Monessen's Maurice Mathieu as the top scorer in the Big Six Conference last season as a sophomore, is back with more weight than his 160 pounds of last season but just as fast (10-second runner in the 100-yard dash); Eloy Ramirez and-or Tom Watson, both of whom can run or block with the best at the other halfback; and fullback Tom Urbanik, the 210-pound sophomore sensation of 1956 (he scored three touchdowns against Monessen last season).

In front of these talented backfielders are veteran linemen Wally Fronzaglio, first-string pivotman last season; Neil Clark, son of line coach Moon Clark, also a regular last year and Butch Tokay, first-string tackle last season who has been switched to a guard to replace graduated Jim Weir, All-Big Six second team choice last year.

Newcomers or players who saw some action last year are vying for the other berths, giving the Dragons an experienced middle defense with the center and two guard regulars back but some difficulty filling the flanking positions of tackles and ends. Most of the newcomers are graduates of John Pykosh's fine '56 Donora Junior High eleven.

Coach Russell is assisted by long-time aides, Clark, a former Duquesne U. star and George Kovalcik, who played at Notre Dame, Russell's alma mater.

"We don't expect to land atop the WPIAL heap this season as we did in 1953 but we'll make it interesting for all our opponents," states Russell. As for predicting a Big Six title, Jimmy says "Anything can happen in this valley especially against Big Six Conference teams, so we'll just have to wait and see."

A brief thumbnail rundown on the team by positions, according to the coaching staff, would look something like this:

ENDS — Bing Alcott and Hal Rice, senior holdovers (but not regulars) from last year's squad, appear to have the terminal slots vacated by Mongelluzzo and Popovich fairly well but have opposition from Jimmy Totedo, a junior from last year's Dragon varsity and Butler Roddy, a sophomore up from Junior high. This position has been the most hotly contested of Dragon positions.

TACKLES — Nick Kuzemka and Larry Staffen appear set here despite strong bids by Bill Patch and a lad with the moniker of "Strangler" Kopena.

GUARDS — Clark and Tokay have these berths all to themselves except for perhaps the middle guard defensive post being held by one of the McKay twins, transfer students of last season from Monongahela, with either of them having a chance at winning the slot.

CENTER — This post belongs to Fronzaglio without any opposition whatsoever it appears at this late date in the training grind.

QUARTERBACK — Davey Russell's very own and he could end up ranking with many all-time Dragon greats at the position like Arnold Galiffa and Bimbo Cecconi or Steve Posey.

HALFBACKS — One of the halfback slots is the personal and private property of Angie Dabiero, the other is being fought for by Tom Watson and Eloy Ramirez at the other half, although Ramirez started in recent scrimmages like the one last week against Aliquippa which reportedly was a standoff.

FULLBACK — Nobody has the nerve to question Tom Urbanik's right to this position as the 210-pounder has already shown in scrimmage that he is even improved over last season, when he was the sophomore scourge of the valley although suffering from lack of experience which he now has acquired. He was All-Big Six honorable mention last year.

As if the talent mentioned above weren't enough Donora very nearly had a 240-pound addition to that backfield or perhaps a tackle slot in Joe (Gunboat) Grogan who was declared ineligible due to the semester resident rule after transfering from Detroit, Michigan where he was an all-state fullback.

That ruling made Big Five foes breathe just a little easier. They are still worried about the apparently "loaded" Dragons.

Donora opens with North Catholic, Friday night then plays Greensburg, Charleroi, Erie Cathedral, Redstone, Har - Brack, Brownsville, Monongahela, Washington and closes with Monessen on November 15.

Bellmar was tabbed as a "wait and see" team, Rostraver as a "green" eleven by their respective coaches at a Communion Breakfast for the St. Sebastian Holy Name Society yesterday morning.

Wade Bender, head mentor for the Rostraver Leopards stated that "We have our fingers crossed what with a very green team and a tough schedule." bender also cited lack of size as a drawback this season.

Bap Manzini, predicting the fortunes of the Hurricanes said he was "far from satisfied with the work of Hurricanes to date but time will tell". Manzini added that "we have a tough schedule and even though we have the largest squad out that I've had since coming to Bellmar, so do other schools as the World War II babies are now of football age."

Also introduced at the breakfast were James Weir, Rostraver High's athletic director, John Sack, a member of the St. Sebastian parish now studying for the priesthood, and the Rev. David Fisher and Rev. Robert Feeney, assistant pastors at St. Sebastian's.

A large turnout of men at attended the breakfast and sat in on the interesting program. Clair Brown, sports editor of The Daily Independent, was toastmaster.

Pro Exhibitions Going Against Predicted Form

By UNITED PRESS

If you're looking for an "early line" on the 1957 National Football League race, you won't find those scrambled exhibition results much help.

Monday morning experts could ponder today such items as the second loss in four games for the world champion New York Giants and an impressive victory over tough Baltimore by previously winless Washington as typical of a full week end of pro gridiron play.

In Sunday games, the Redskins ended a three-game losing streak by whipping highly - touted Baltimore, 24-14; the Chicago Bears bounced back from a loss to the Giants to hand the winless Philadelphia Eagles their fifth straight defeat, and the Pittsburgh Steelers handed the Detroit Lions their first loss, 20-14.

On Saturday, the San Francisco Forty-Niners downed the Chicago Cardinals, 27-21; and the Green Bay Packers surprised the Giants, 13-10. On Friday night, the Los Angeles Rams beat the Cleveland Browns, 20-14.

Coach Niccolai Sees Heavy Work for Next Few Days

"We've got a lot of work to do and a very short time in which to do it," stated Monessen High School football coach Armand Niccolai this morning as he prepared for the final week of drills before Saturday night's opener with Windber away.

Following a scrimmage Saturday "Nick" still wasn't set on just who his eleven starters would be so all he could do was repeat who has looked most promising to date like Dennis O'Toole and Paul Tobacco at the ends with George Guibourdanche closely pressing that duo for the terminal posts.

Tackles Ed Allen and Bob James (Bobo) Aldrich have the offensive berths pretty much to themselves here.

Three boys have shown outstanding work at guard with Terry Throop a junior, Bob Paulinen, a senior letterman and Vince Pascarella, 200-pound junior, neck and neck for these posts.

Center duties have been in the hands of Tom Churan, 170 pound senior.

In the backfield Dan Barton and Carl Payne are still the quarterback "owners" while Ken Bronson, Joe Karbowsky, and James Lewitsky are in the "halfback hassle."

Fullback chores will be handled by Carl Rattay and sophomore George Carollo, the starter depending on how well Rattay's injuries have healed by game time.

Elsewhere in the Big Five this week, the openers will be on Friday night, a night before the 'Hound - Windber tilt.

Charleroi, opens with Oliver at home, Donora entertains North Catholic, Brownsville travels to Munhall and Monongahela meets traditional opener foe, Snowden

Jay Peake Edged In State Archery Championships

SHARON, Pa. (UP)— Gerald Walker of Berlin held his third straight men's Class A expert bowman's Pennsylvania field archery crown today with his son also displaying a trophy.

Walker recorded 1.369 points during the week end meet at the Shenango Valley Archery Club in nearby Clarksville. More than 220 archers competed.

The Somerset County archer turned back Jay Peake of Charleroi, national field titlist, who compiled 1,261 points. Joe Martell of Industry was third with 1,238.

While Walker was capturing the Class A title, his son Ronald fired 983 score to win the 13-16-year-old age group championship.

Tom Lepsic of Industry captured the Class B. title with 1,139 points, followed by Robert Stewart of Osceola Mills with 1,106 and John Scott of Reynoldsville with 1,007.

Genevieve Husted of Perkiomenville repeated as the women's expert bowman titleholder with a 999 score. Second was Mona Guth of Fryburg with 883 and third was Nellie Baer of Reading with 881.

Perez-Bell Repeat On TV Tonight

NEW YORK (UP)—Lightweights Lulu Perez and Bobby Bell will settle their dispute tonight in a retur widely-televised 10 - round fight at St. Nicholas Arena.

They fought to a draw at St. Nick's on Aug. 19. Perez of Brooklyn was leading at the midway mark; but Bell of Youngstown, Ohio, came on in the second half and finished the stronger.

Each fighter and his supporters claimed he was the winner.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Fear of Long Shots

The swing you use for hitting a full two-iron shot, for instance, is merely an extension of the swing you use for hitting a chip shot. But most golfers seem to feel that hitting a long shot is harder and a lot more complicated than hitting a short one. This is the wrong attitude; it is self-defeating. It beats you before you start.

True, your swinging errors will show up more glaringly in the long shots. But essentially the swing pattern does not change. The same basic principles apply — regardless of length of stroke.

So don't let self-doubts disturb you when you are faced with a long shot — or, if they do start disturbing you, shake them off. Approach the shot with confidence. Take a good free swing, but don't swing TOO hard. Meet the ball solidly, keeping the head in place until after the ball is hit.

'Big Weekend' For Easy Ed Betus At MVCC Course

Ed Betus had a big weekend at Monongahela Valley Country Club, winning Saturday and Sunday low gross honors and teaming with John McCann and H. Spedden to win today's tri-amateur tourney.

Betus fired 36-36—72 today and 38-39—77 yesterday. The winning tri-am team had a socre of 31-32—63.

M. Venturi, George Roule and A. Hamilton scored 30-34—64 and Dr. H. Underwood, N. Sivie and T. Woolslayer tallied 32-32—64 in the tourney.

Saturday "kicker" results were: Rodgers, 90-10—80; John Boyer, 9010—80; Dr. J. A. Hutchinson, 9018—72; F. B. Kramer, 91-91—81; R. Polaski, 85-4—81; A. Wagner, 917—84; John Brazack, 87-5—82; D. Montgomery, 94-12—82; E. E. Compton, Sr., 97-15—82.

Trophies were presented yesterday to winners in the club championship tournament. Mrs. F. N. Parent won the 1957 Women's title, Betus the men's honor.

Smith Boys Pace Pirates to Split

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Two boys named Smith—Bobby Gene and Paul—combined talents Sunday to pace the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 6-2 victory over Philadelphia, after the Phils splurged for four runs in the ninth to win the opener, 7-4.

Bobby Gene Smith scattered hits and struck out six to notch his first victory against three defeats. He was acquired from the Cardinals last spring.

Paul Smith, no relation, clipped a double and two singles in four at-bats, drove in a run and tallied another to back up the nightcap victory.

The Phils put together five hits and a walk for their winning ninth inning rally in the opener. Rip Repulski drove in four Philadelphia runs, including a two-run homer to tie the score two-all in the sixth.

Philadelphia mustered 13 hits in the opener to snap a four-game Pirate winning streak. Dick Farrell, the third of four Philly hurlers, won his eighth game, while Bob Purkey, the fourth of five Pirate pitchers, suffered his sixth straight defeat and 14th loss of the season.

In the nightcap, the Pirates took a 4-0 lead in the third inning and added single runs in the fourth and fifth frames. Warren Hacker went down to his sixth defeat as he yielded five hits in the third. Harding Peterson singled, Bobby Smith, Bill Virdon, Dick Groat and successive singles by Paul Smith, Bill Virdon, Duck Groat and Paul Skinner together with a throwing error by Willie Jones combined to give the Pirates their third inning bulge.

The Pirates and Phils are idle today. Philadelphia meets St. Louis and Pittsburgh plays Milwaukee in night games Tuesday. Both games for the Pennsylvania teams are on the road.

American Davis Cups Hopes Go To Ground Zero

By STEVE SNIDER

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UP) — America's Davis Cup hopes dwindled to ground zero today with Australia plainly in the driver's seat again after 10 days of superb tennis in the U.S. Singles championships.

Two ancient traditions fell Sunday after 77 years when Althea Gibson of New York became the first Negro ever to win a U.S. grass courts crown by out-steadying veteran Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., 6-3, 6-2, and cowboy Malcolm Anderson of Australia became the first unseeded player ever to win the men's title.

It was Anderson's straight set triumph over Australian champion Ashley Cooper, 10-8, 7-5, 6-4, that cast gloom over U.S. cup hopes because Anderson strictly was a bolt from the blue.

He pulverized America's leading player, Dick Savitt of South Orange, N.J., en route to the final and was equally potent against Cooper, who previously had licked him five straight times.

With Savitt already withdrawn from the U.S. team and top-ranked Ham Richardson a doubtful traveler because his wife likely would not be permitted to go with the team, the United States has only Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., who was trounced by Cooper, and Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, who lost to Flam.

Racial Issue Faces NBA Convention

DENVER (UP) — The National Boxing Assn. opened its convention today faced with a racial segregation question.

Executive Secretary Abe Kotzen denied a move is afoot to boycott some segregated southern states but said the question, as it relates to fighters and spectators, would come before the 250 delegates.

LA, NY Offers Made to O'Malley For Dodgers Team

NEW YORK (UP) — Both Los Angeles and New York interests pitched five-million-dollar offers at the Brooklyn Dodgers today but there wasn't even the slightest hint that the Dodgers were catching them.

Elliott Evans, a West Coast financier, entered the cloudy Dodger situation Sunday with the announcement that he'll top by a half-million dollars the offer of five million dollars made for the club on Friday by East Coast financier Louis Wolfson.

Evans, who says he is acting "independently" of Los Angeles city officials, wants to buy the Dodgers and move them to Los Angeles; Wolfson wants to keep them here.

Hurler Who Couldn't Make Grade as Yank Now Helping Champs

By FRED DOWN

Jack Urban couldn't make the grade with the New York Yankees but he's a big reason today why the world champions figure to make the grade in the American League pennant race.

A 29-year-old, 155-pound right hander who went to Kansas City as part of the Yankees' deal for Enos Slaughter, Urban hurled a 13-inning, five-hitter Sunday to give the Athletics a 3-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox. The loss dropped the White Sox 5½ games behind the Yankees, who scored a 5-2 victory over the Washington Senators.

The St. Louis Cardinals moved to within 5½ games of first place in the National League when they beat the Cincinnati Redlegs, 4-3, and the Chicago Cubs dumped the Milwaukee Braves, 5-3, in 10 innings. The White Sox are four games behind the Yankees in the "loss column" with 19 games to go while the Cardinals are six behind the Braves with 17 to go.

Urban Fans Eight

Urban struck out eight, yielded only one earned run and hurled no-hit ball for the last 8 2-3 innings to win his fifth decision. He also knocked in a run with one of his three hits.

Bobby Shantz rescued Tom Sturdivant in the ninth inning for the Yankees, who took a 3-0 lead in the second inning with the help of Gil McDougald's key double and added two insurance runs in the ninth. Roy Sievers singled home both Washington runs in the third to raise his runs batted in total to 101.

Wally Moon singled home the tieing run and Al Dark popped a single to right field to drive in the winning tally for the Cardinals who trailed, 3-0, into the last of the eighth.

Bob Will's single was the key blow in the Cubs' 10th-inning rally that dealt the Braves their fourth defeat in five games.

Bosox Beat Orioles

The Boston Red Sox beat the Baltimore Orioles, 2-0, and the Detroit Tigers downed the Cleveland Indians, 3-1, in the other AL games while the New York Giants shaded the Brooklyn Dodgers, 3-2, in the final game of the famous rivalry at the Polo Grounds and the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-2, after a 7-4 loss in other NL games.

Dick Gernert's two-run seventh-inning homer was all Mike Fornicles needed as he limited the Orioles to three hits to win his ninth game.

Billy Hoeft struck out seven and gained his eighth win for the Tigers, who took a 2-0 lead in the first inning with the help of Cal McLish's wildness. Gene Woodling hit his 18th homer of the year for the Indians.

Hank Sauer's two-run third-inning homer enabled the Giants to end their cross-town rivalry with the Dodgers on a victorious note and Bob Smith pitched an eight-hitter to win his first game for the Pirates after the Phillies won the opener with a four-run rally in the ninth.

Cards Call up Four

ST. LOUIS (UP) — Four farmhands will join the St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday night in time for their game against the Philadelphia Phillies. The Cardinals recalled pitcher Lynn Lovenguth from Rochester of the International League and outfielders Gene Green of Rochester and Jim King and Don Lassetter of Omaha of the American Association.

Glick's Kicking, Hughes' Running Beat Lions for Steelers, 20-14

BUFFALO (UP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers, playing their best game of four pre-season tilts, used the footwork of Gary Glick and the running of Dick Hughes to defeat the favored Detroit Lions Sunday, 20-14.

An 86-yard runback of a punt by Hughes in the opening minutes of the third quarter gave Pittsburgh a lead it never relinquished, as Coach Buddy Parker gave his former team its first defeat this year.

Glick, a defensive ace, accounted for eight points with two field goals and two conversions and set up one score by intercepting a Tobin Rote pass and running it back 41 yards.

Pittsburgh, behind 7-0 after Detroit scored on a recovered fumble early in the first quarter, tied it during the second period when little Ted Marchibroda passed the Steelers into position and Fran Rogel bucked across from the one.

The Steelers bottled up Bobby Layne's potentially dangerous passing attack except for a brief period in the fourth period when the Detroit redhead moved the Lions into scoring position and finally hit Jerry Reichow for a touchdown.

A crowd of 20,630 fans sat through the game in Buffalo's Civic stadium.

The victory was especially sweet for Parker, who gave up the Detroit reins last month. Sunday's game was the first in which he had taken complete control of the Steelers.

Giants Top Bums In Polo Finale

NEW YORK (UP)—No one cried in his beer and no one sang Auld Lang Syne, but the Giants and Dodgers revived a flock of golden memories after facing each other for the last time at the Polo Grounds.

A crowd of 22,376, made up mostly of sentimentalists who perhaps wanted to tell their grandchildren that they had seen the final game between the two clubs at the Polo Grounds, watched the Giants fashion a 3-2 victory in the interborough wind-up.

Players on both sides couldn't help but recall some of their classic battles of the past as they peeled off their uniforms. Most, of course, cited Bobby Thomson's pennant-winning homer for the Giants in the 1951 playoff.

Tigers Recall Presko

DETROIT (UP)—Joe Presko, a 29-year-old relief pitcher, looked forward today to a return to the bigtime. The Detroit Tigers recalled Presko from their Charleston, W. Va., farm club of the American Association, where the former St. Louis Cardinals pitcher has spent the last two seasons.

Mark Anniversary

MEAUX, France (UP)—France marked Sunday as the 43rd anniversary of the Battle of the Marne which saved Paris from German capture in World War I.

Industrial Zoning Is Necessary

(The Daily Independent is printing six articles describing a proposed new zoning ordinance for Monessen. The following article, fourth in the series, deals with zoning regulations for industries.)

With more diversified industry a recognized need for the stability of Monessen, full consideration has been given to the requirements of industry in the proposed new zoning ordinance which City Council will soon have up for adoption.

The ordinance proposes two industrial zones, the M-1 district for light industry and the M-2 district for heavy industry. It would prohibit use of the industrial districts for any commercial establishment or any dwelling.

Due to topography and the relatively fixed locations of railroad and major highway rights-of-way, the heavy industrial district is generally that which is already being used for this purpose in Monessen.

The M-1 district would provide for smaller industries with the added restrictions that operations involving explosives, smoke fumes, odor, dust, noise, vibration, glaring light, water-borne waste would not be permitted if evidences of these were noticeable outside the particular establishment.

Studies of the Planning Commission indicate Monessen can accommodate a considerable amount of industry without ill-effect upon either residential or business districts in the City. The zoning ordinance would preserve valuable space for this specific use by withholding building permits for homes and businesses in industrial zones Existing establishments would be permitted to remain for an indefinite period with restrictions on their enlargement or expansion. In some cases redevelopment is anticipated.

The ordinance would require industries to maintain parking facilities in proportion to their needs. Loading zones or docks for trucks would likewise be required.

Planning and zoning experience elsewhere indicates industrial districts should be as well separated from residential and retail commercial areas as possible by well defined natural or man made barriers. Monessen's new zoning ordinance takes advantage of such natural barriers as the steep slopes between low and high ground. In some instances a rail line or a major street provides the line of demarkation.

While zoning itself cannot secure new industrial enterprises for the City, it is an established fact that proper zoning well administered is one of the first considerations of companies seeking favorable plant sites.

In addition to the needs of industry acknowledged in the zoning ordinance, the comprehensive plan for the City will give further consideration to this community need, the Planning Commission has indicated.

(Tomorrow: signs, parking and special uses under the zoning ordinance.)

Eye, Ear Can Cause Trouble

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Juvenile delinquency is a mounting problem in many communities. In seeking a solution to this admittedly explosive situation, we have blamed environment, the uncertainty of the times and a thousand and one other things.

We have said the fault lies with the parents, or with the companions the delinquent child keeps. Occasionally, we've even blamed the unruly youngsters themselves.

Now, finally, let's put at least part of the blame where it belongs —on specific physical handicaps.

Let me make a flat statement so there will be no misunderstanding: seeing and hearing difficulties, I firmly believe, are responsible for at least a portion of the juvenile delinquency in the United States today.

Some 8,000,000 American children—one out of every four of our school-age youngsters — have some defective vision and need some form of eye care.

More than 3,000,000 children have hearing difficulties. Undoubtedly, there are many more cases which haven't been noticed yet, even by the youngster's parents and teachers.

Affects School Work

Unquestionably, seeing or hearing difficulties affect a youngster's school work.

From 24 to 35 per cent of all first grade pupils fail to be promoted. These are only first graders, remember!

It is estimated that 90 per cent of these failures can be blamed directly on poor reading. However, in a large percentage of these cases, it is really poor vision that is the basic trouble.

Substandard reading ability is tied in closely with a child's entire make-up. It is frustating for a child to be unable to read as well as others in his class. This often leads to development of a sense of inferiority.

Such a youngster is apt to become withdrawn and might fail to compete with others outside the school as well as in the classroom. Yet he still longs for attention, wants to be noticed.

And there you have the basic requirements for a real trouble maker.

A report by the Affiliated Teacher organizations of Los Angeles bears this out. They charged that poor readers in high school were causing teachers one of their greatest discipline problems.

Another statistic it has been found that more than 75 per cent of our delinquents have reading difficulties.

What can we do? Well, the real solution lies with you. It's up to you parents to detect any eye or ear troubles in your children as promptly as you can.

Canasta is the favorite card game in the United States. A recent survey showed that it was the favorite of nearly 35 per cent of all card players.

World of Television—

Radio Outselling TV About Two to One

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — This is national television week, a dandy occasion for looking at radio. Or even listening to it.

Right now, radio (aw, come on, you remember radio — that's television without old movies) is outselling TV as a gadget by about two to one. CBS Radio, an outfit with an interest in such things, reports that in the first 31 weeks of this year, 7,740,000 radios were bought as against 3,119,000 TV sets.

William Ewald

As an attention getter, of course, radio has been upstaged by TV. According to Nielsen Research, the average evening sponsored network show reached five-and-one-half million families in 1949, but now reaches less than one million.

The average daytime network show has dropped off, too — from three million homes in 1949 to less than a million-and-a-half.

Still Has Audience

Still, radio has not lost its ability to pull in a mass audience. Some 89 out of every 100 radio homes tune in to the magic box sometime during the week. In fact, recent Nielsen figures show that in the course of a week, more than 40 million families bend an ear toward the radios in their homes.

There's no doubt that another huge hunk of time is spent listening to radio in places unmeasureable—in cars, at the beach, picnics and so forth.

There are, for example, more than 38 million radios in automobiles alone — a figure more than the total number of homes with radios only 10 years ago. There are also about 10 million portables floating around.

As far as programs go, radio still beams out plenty of goodies. The Mutual Network has a "Horatio Hornblower" series with Michael Redgrave and a "Lives of Harry Lime" thriller with Orson Welles. Mutual also features "Bob and Ray" in five 25-minute shows each week—which is almost as much comedy as TV now offers in a month.

CBS radio is really perking—it recently completed a multi-million dollar deal with one motor company that'll bring Bing Crosby, Rosemary Clooney and Arthur Godfrey to radio fans.

Other Shows

CBS radio also offers a Stan Freberg comedy show each Sunday that hits a pretty high average in funniness. The CBS stable also houses such money-winners as "Gunsmoke," "The Mitch Miller Show," "The Robert Q. Lewis Show," and "CBS Radio Workshop." The latter effort is of consistently high quality.

Over at NBC radio, there is the weekend "Monitor" which draws bushels of listeners. NBC's nighttime show, "Nightline," showcases offbeat features including "Biographies in Sound." The Web also carries Bob Hope, Groucho Marx, "The Telephone Hour" and "Grand Ol' Opry."

One of radio's prize quality efforts is in the ABC stable — the Metropolitan Opera broadcasts, now 27 years old. "The Breakfast Club" is still going, too, at ABC, a favorite since 1933.

So, this TV week you might try giving radio an extra whirl. There is still plenty of life left in the old gadget.

In Hollywood—

Too Much Singing —Fisher

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Man the lifeboats, men, Eddie Fisher, scanning the upcoming TV season, predicts televiewers will drown in a deluge of music.

"I'm not fooling," Eddie said, attempting to conceal a grin. "There'll be 27 musical-variety shows lined up this fall — more than all the westerns and comedy programs put together.

"It's a real jamboree, and I'm afraid we all can't last."

Without batting an eye the tousle haired singer ticked off a few of the emcees headed toward the nation's living rooms — Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Perry Como, Dinah Shore, Tennessee Ernie Ford, Bob Hope, Gisele MacKenzie, Jerry Lewis, Polly Bergen, Rosemary Clooney, Pat Boone, Patrice Munsel and Guy Mitchell.

"And that's only half of 'em," he said. "Then there's a whole bunch of spectaculars coming up, too.

"We'll have the daindest round-robin of guest stars you ever saw. Everybody will be working on everyone else's shows. Guest stars are expensive, but we'll all be getting them for nothing.

"'Course, I'll have to show up on other programs to get people to put in appearances on mine. We'll even be crossing network lines.

"But I have one guest under complete control. She'll be on my opening program, October first. She happens to be Debbie Reynolds."

Growing serious, Eddie guessed that half the variety efforts won't last more than a few months.

"Not only are there a heck of a lot of shows," he said, "but they're lined up back to back. For instance, Polly Bergen follows Perry Como, and she in turn is followed by Gisele MacKenzie. That's an awful lot of music in a bunch.

"My own new show comes right on the heels of Nat (King) Cole's program. Ernie Ford is followed by Rosemary Clooney — and like that.

"There aren't that many good songs around. People will be listening to the same tunes—about 50 great standards and 40 or so top tunes. I just hope the public doesn't drown in that much music."

Eddie will alternate every other week with George Gobel, who also has a new hour-long musical-variety program with NBC-TV.

"It's gonna be a ball," Eddie concluded. "The greatest songfest in the history of tin pan alley."

Nick Perry to Be on KDKA - TV

Nick Perry, a firm television favorite in Pittsburgh for a number of years, has joined the staff of KDKA-TV, it has been announced by program manager B. Calvin Jones.

Formerly a great favorite with WDTV (now KDKA-TV) viewers, Nick won many friends with his infectious charm and relaxing manner while hosting such programs as 'Polka Party" and "Sports Final."

For the past four years Perry has been associated with Pittsburgh UHF station WENS.

Indians Rejected

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Three Cherokee Indians applied for parts as Indians in Disney Studios' "The Light in the Forest" being filmed on location in Tennessee. They were turned down on grounds they didn't look enough like Indians — but then were hired as British redcoats.

One-man Crusade Effective

By ARTHUR DOMMEN

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UP) — A one-man crusade against juvenile delinquency has stirred up a hornet's nest here.

Walter Franc, retired president of a furniture concern, launched his attack after his 16-year-old stepson, John Larcher, was badly beaten by a gang.

"It was one of the most horrible shocks of my life," said Franc. "I thought heinous crimes like this happened only in slum areas or in the biggest cities, not in neighborhoods such as ours."

Franc hired attorneys who contacted a private detective to investigate the operation of the gang in the wealthiest part of Columbus.

Vacant House Headquarters

The detective found that the eight-member gang had broken into a vacant house and turned it into a headquarters for card games, beating up boys, planning auto thefts and destroying property.

All the gang members were from well-to-do families. One of the two who severely lacerated Larcher's face had been a dinner guest at the Franc home a few nights earlier.

The report of the gang and its operations shocked the community. Police officials, juvenile court authorities, county commissioners and social workers took up the case.

Local police said the Juvenile Court was too lenient. Juvenile Court representatives said they were not a law - enforcement agency. There was no place to send the boys, they said, except to an already over-crowded industrial school.

Flooded With Mail

Franc himself was flooded with mail and telephone calls. Some cheered him, saying it was about time the authorities were made to crack down on delinquents. Other callers were outraged that Franc would call the boys criminals.

Franc replied that he, personally, had no ready-made solution to the juvenile delinquency problem. He said he was concerned about the "extreme laxity" on the part of juvenile authorities.

His main interest in the matter, he said, was in bringing to justice the two boys who attacked his son. His second interest, he added, was to bring about a change in the attitude of juvenile authorities.

"They seem to have a turn-the-back attitude," said Franc. He added, "I only wanted to live peacefully and leave other people alone. Then, out of the clear sky, this thing comes along."

Press Seminars Are Planned for Veteran Newsmen

NEW YORK (UP)—The American Press Institute announced today that it will hold nine two-week seminars for experienced newspaper men during the 1957-58 academic year.

J. Montgomery Curtis, institute director, said nominations should be made as early as possible since seminar members are selected six weeks in advance of each program. Application forms may be obtained from the Institute, Journalism Building, Columbia University, New York 27.

The schedule follows:

Managing editors and news editors, Oct. 21-Nov. 1.

City editors, Dec. 2-13.

Circulation managers, Jan. 6-17.

Publishers, editors and chief news executives of newspapers under 50,000 circulation, Jan. 27-Feb. 7.

Advertising directors of newspapers under 75,000 circulation, Feb. 17-28.

Managing editors and news editors (second seminar), March 10-21.

Reporters and editorial writers on municipal problems, (for general assignment reporters, city hall reporters, editorial writers and others concerned with problems faced by cities), April 28-May 9.

Managements and costs for newspapers under 50,000 circulation, (for publishers, editors, general managers, business managers and other executives primarily responsible for the business operations of their newspapers), May 19-30.

Sports editors, June 9-20.

The programs are open to all daily newspapers in the United States and Canada. Applicants must have at least five years experience and be nominated by their newspapers. There are no academic requirements.

While the seminars are planned primarily for executives, staff members and assistants in positions indicated by the seminar titles, the institute frequently accepts candidates who do not have these specific titles. In unusual circumstances the requirement of five years experience may be waived.

Each seminar is limited to 27 members. All programs are conducted as round - table exchanges and are individually planned to meet the specific needs of the members.

Women Are 'Extremists' When Investing Money, Broker Claims

By LEROY POPE

NEW YORK (UP) —"Women are the extremists in the investment world—they either buy nothing but government bonds and American Telephone or they squander their money on penny uranium stocks."

That's the opinion of the first active woman stock broker to have her name added to a Wall Street firm, Mrs. Margaret Kennedy, a pleasant, red - haired grandmother of 44. The stock exchange firm of Seligman, Lubetkin & Co. has just changed its name to Lubetkin, Regan & Kennedy.

"Ignorance makes women extremists about securities," Mrs. Kennedy said, "and since so many of them are ignorant about money, it's probably just as well that most of the fortunes in the hands of women are tied up good and tight in trust funds."

Mrs. Kennedy says this is especially important because there are more potential women buyers of securities than male customers—if we leave out institutional investors, which are run by men.

"I have been lecturing for years, urging women to learn about money and investments while their husbands are alive—so they will not be too dependent on trust company executives if they're widowed. More important it is necessary for women to learn not to make investments out of emotional instead of business considerations. Extreme conservatism or the desire to gamble on shady speculations show an emotional attitude toward money as well as bad judgment."

Even worse, says Mrs. Kennedy, are the numerous tragedies caused by mother yielding to the importunities of her children to invest money in their business schemes. "If the investments go bad and mother becomes destitute, the children may be the first to turn on her and accuse her of wasting her and their inheritance."

Other women's names have appeared in the titles of Wall Street firms—but only as silent partners. Margaret Kennedy is different. She knew about big steel, bulls and bears and cats and dogs before she was nine. She helped her father keep statistical tables for his financial paper, the Wall Street Analyst. She liked that better than playing with dolls.

Singing Penalties

MOSCOW (UP)—Moscow residents were forbidden today to drink, gamble or sing loudly in public places under penalty of a 100 ruble (about $10) fine. New regulations on public conduct passed by the city council July 12 were posted throughout the city.

Plan Experiments

LAKELAND, Fla. (UP)—Experiments were planned today for thicker frozen orange concentrate which citrus processors think might cut down shipping, handling and canning costs.
